HERB ROASTED GUINEA HEN

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 Whole Dressed Guinea Hen (Cleaned & Prepared)
- 1 Onion, halved
- 6 TBS. Whipped, Unsalted Butter
- 2 TBS. Fresh Chopped Rosemary
- 2 TBS. Fresh Chopped Parsley
- 2 TBS. Fresh Chopped Oregano
- 1 TBS. Fresh Chopped Thyme
- 2 TBS. Fresh, Thin Sliced Chives
- 1 Clove Fresh, Minced Garlic
- 2 Cloves Whole Garlic
- 1 Lemon
- Sea Salt & Fresh Cracked Black Pepper To Taste

PREPARATION:

Preheat oven to 450°. In a bowl, mix butter, herbs, minced garlic, salt & pepper together. Season the inside of the birds cavity. Next, cut the lemon in half. Place lemon halves & whole garlic cloves inside the birds cavity. Using your hand with a glove, rub the herb butter underneath the birds skin. The majority of the butter will be used under the breast skin. Use a small amount of butter to lightly coat the outside of the bird. Place the bird breast side up in a roasting pan, on top of an the split onion. Bake at 450° for 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to 425 for 10 more minutes. Reduce heat to 325° & continue cooking to an internal temperature of 160°. Turn the oven off & crack the door open slightly. After 10 minutes, remove the bird from the oven & place on a cutting board. Cover the bird loosely, with foil for 10 more minutes. Finally, carve the bird & serve. Enjoy! Hint: You can cross the birds legs & tie them together for a nicer presentation. Guinea Hen is one of the most enjoyable birds to eat & is at the top of the list for me. Please try it if you get the chance.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS FOR JANUARY ROAD TRIPS

Replenish winter emergency kit. Restock essentials like flashlight batteries, first-aid supplies, road flares, washer fluid and de-icer spray. Service shops sell and recommend reliable kit replacements. Top off any items you may have used in previous months and keep your kit fully stocked for the rest of winter.

Keep the vehicle gas tank half full. Maintaining a fuel tank at least half full gives you extra protection if you get stuck in traffic or face delays during a snowstorm. It also helps prevent condensation inside the tank, which can cause a fuel line freezing and corrosion inside the tank.

Check door and trunk seals. January's freeze-thaw cycles can cause seals to crack, stick or leak. Keep rubber seals on doors and the truck pliable with rubber treatment designed for vehicles.

Consider rust-proofing. Your vehicle's consistent exposure moisture, slush and road salt can cause rust. Consider an underbody coating as a protective barrier against corrosion.

Midway inspection for long road trips. Even a properly maintained vehicle can develop problems on a long winter excursion. Plan a service center stop midway through your journey. Other midway vacation inspections include:

Be aware of signs your vehicle battery may be starting to fail. Telltale signs include windows that retract slowly, starter system working harder than normal, vehicle lights dimming and wiper blades operating slowly.

Top off washer fluid, antifreeze and oil if necessary.

Are your front and rear wiper blades causing streaks or chattering? Worn blades can damage glass surfaces and reduce driving visibility, especially at nighttime. Replace rather than waiting until you return home.

Did your vehicle encounter any road debris or potholes? Check wheel alignment and tire damage.

Make sure your vehicle's tires have plenty of tread life and are not underinflated. Improper tire pressure can cause blowouts while proper tread helps improve grip on cold roads.

WET FOOD BETTER THAN DRY FOOD FOR YOUR CAT OR DOG?

Submitted By
Patsy Nelson

According to the whole dog journal (which is an expert source for all things dog) wet, raw, or dehydrated food, is far better than any dry food, even the most expensive.

Many vets will push dry food as a way of maintaining good dental health. But how many dogs or cats (or humans for that matter) truly spend more than a few seconds masticating their food? Most pets usually inhale their food. Slow feeders have been invented for that reason although the Fromm company recommends adding cold water to your dog's dry food-as much as the dog can accept-to allow the food to move quickly through the gut for better gut health. Imagine yourself eating a beer pretzel without a beverage! Adding water is not possible if a dog grazes all day as you do not want the kibble to soften which will increase how slowly it makes its way through the intestinal tract. But there may be a reason your dog grazes- boredom with the food.

Some customers have been hesitant to change their dog's diet. I've had much success with dogs that have been found lost, or given up, like Zoey, or fostered-turned-rescue, Ebby. If your dog or cat gets lost, and then found by someone else, even for a short time, it will be fed whatever that person chooses. (too many pets don't carry identification, and no pet carries medical or feeding instructions.) It's truly healthier and more appealing to a cat or dog to alter or mix the proteins that they are given as long as you know that they do not have an allergy problem with a specific protein, like chicken or beef, which have been targeted for that. I am amazed how many of our reputable pet food companies carry canned foods that contain chicken or beef which leads me to believe that a majority of pets don't have problems with either. Today there are numerous other protein options that pets have not consumed that can be safely added. Kangaroo, Goat, Guinea Fowl, Venison, Pork, Rabbit, Fish, among others, can be slowly introduced, although I never slowly introduced anything. I am always trying something new on my cats and dogs and then monitor their stool, or amount of licking or scratching for indications of a problem. Feeding the same protein all the time can result in an allergy to that protein. Adding canned food, or freeze-dried food, can greatly enhance your pet's interest in eating, and overall physical health.

Unless your pet eats all of its food at feeding time, it is best not to mix wet and dry food together. I know that Ebby will eat just about anything I give to her. But Zoey is a bit more hesitant. When I add a new can to their nightly meal, I put some in a separate bowl for both so that if they do not take to it, I have not ruined the main dish of gently cooked raw sprinkled with Dr. Marty's small breed freeze dried food. Last night Zoey would not touch Evanger's chicken thighs which Ebby gobbled up. Yet Zoey has eaten it in the past. I have stopped feeding kibble, although for many who have bigger dogs, the kibble is more affordable, but still better with some canned food and cold water. Don't use warm water as it softens the kibble. As mentioned above, the Fromm family foods recommends that your dog should literally drink down its food, the quicker the better, for optimum gut health.
