HOROSCOPE

OCTOBER 23 - OCTOBER 29, 2025

ARIES (Mar. 21-April 20)

After weeks of pushing ahead, this week calls you to slow down and look inward. A financial, emotional, or intimate situation may require deeper reflection—and some courage to confront. You don't have to control everything to be safe. Real power comes from letting go of fear.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)

Partnership themes intensify this week, and you may be facing a fork in the road. A relationship—romantic, professional, or even with yourself—needs clearer terms. Don't avoid the hard conversations. Honesty now will either strengthen the bond or set you free.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)

You're being asked to get serious about your wellness—body, schedule, energy, all of it. This week favors clarity through cleanup. A minor adjustment could bring major relief. Your future self is already thanking you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Creative energy is rising, but only if you allow yourself to explore joy without guilt. Romance, art, or play is calling—don't drown it out with duty. This week is about what lights you up. Not everything has to be useful to be meaningful.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22)

You're pulled toward your roots now—your home, your past, your inner sense of safety. Something old may need resolution so something new can grow. Let yourself feel what comes up, even if it's messy. Home isn't always a place—it's a state of peace.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)

Conversations may carry hidden weight this week—what's left unsaid is just as important as what's spoken. A sibling, neighbor, or familiar routine could hold surprising insight. Write it down, speak it out, or sit with it quietly. Clarity starts in the mind before it moves into motion.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)

Money, value, and worth are all themes this week—and not just in the material sense. Ask yourself where your time and energy are going, and whether it reflects your true priorities. The eclipse left you raw, but also real. Now you get to rebuild with intention.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Scorpio season arrives, and with it a wave of personal intensity. This is your reset button, but it requires you to show up fully—mess and all. Shed the version of yourself that's keeping you small. You're not just evolving—you're stepping into your power.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Your inner world is loud right now, even if you're staying outwardly busy. Don't ignore what's bubbling up in your dreams, instincts, or late-night thoughts. This is a private transformation, but no less powerful. Clear space for what your spirit is trying to tell you.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan. 20)

You're redefining what community means to you—and who fits into your future. Friendships or collaborations may shift this week, and that's okay. This isn't about cutting people off; it's about choosing alignment. Trust your vision, even if others don't fully see it yet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)

You're standing at a professional or public threshold, and something big is stirring. If you've been questioning your path, this week brings a sign. You're ready for more—but only if it supports your growth. Step up with purpose, not pressure.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)

A new belief is taking root, and it may change how you see the world—or your place in it. Whether it's travel, study, or spiritual realignment, you're expanding. Let curiosity guide you, not dogma. Growth doesn't have to look radical to feel revolutionary.

DOG ACID KNOWN AS GERD OR GASTROESOPHAGEAL REFLUX DISEASE

Submitted By
Patsy Nelson

A customer contacted me at home about her dog's reflux problem. I decided to do further research to enhance the small amount of advice I was able to offer. This morning while I was out in the garden, I noticed the dogs searching for a particular grass that they eat when their stomachs are upset, which is one of the indicators of GERD-but if done in excess. Other indicators would be vomiting bile-usually a yellowish fluid as opposed to white foam. (vomiting is usually more frequent after a meal), licking the floor, or gulping at night which are loud noises like lip smacking, opening, and closing the mouth repetitively, which may mean that the dog is feeling distressed. I have GERD, so I can relate. Other indicators are regurgitation of small amounts of food, especially when using the stairs, getting up or down, or being picked up. It is usually food that has not been sufficiently swallowed. Sour or bad breath is caused by the acid in the stomach.

Nausea may cause a dog to be reluctant to eat anything, especially first thing in the morning. Ebby always gobbles up her treats in the morning, but Zoey is often not interested. I tell Bob to let her be for another hour or so and then see if she has an appetite. Sometimes dogs will start panting or become restless, especially after a meal. I make dinner (their only main meal) for the dogs at around 8 p.m. and sometimes they will finish it within 30 minutes. Sometimes Zoey won't touch her bowl until I put it with her in my bed and force a piece of topper into her mouth. Sometimes she spits it right out and then eats it. Sometimes she swallows it at once. Then she appears to think "Oh, that was pretty good. I think I'll eat some more." I go into the bathroom and get ready for bed, and by that time she has finished it, and will woof at me that she now is ready for her bedtime dental chew. Ebby gets her dental treat after she eats all her dinner, given when Zoey gets hers.

Dogs may get GERD from several causes. *Inefficient digestion which builds up stomach acid. *Dietary inadequacies like too much fat which slows down movement, or difficult to digest ingredients like corn. *Sensitivity to certain foods. Keep a journal of everything you feed your dog each day. That will help key in on the problematic ones. I get reflux especially from spicy foods, and mostly if eaten along with wine and chocolate! Intestinal *Dysbiosis is an imbalance of gut digestion which may be my problem too. I am going to consult a nutritionist. *Also, IBD or inflammatory bowel disease, or other gastrointestinal disorders can contribute to the problem of reflux. *More serious contributors may be cancer, liver, or kidney disease. At bedtime, try giving your dog an easily digestible treat, so the dog is not going to bed on an empty stomach, like a little goat milk which has a soothing effect. Check these out on the internet: Soothing Digestive Relief by ASK ARIEL, Their LypoZyme Digestive Enzymes for small and sensitive dogs, and a product called Gastro ULC Acid Reducer which has been proven to help soothe and repair the stomach lining.
