Release the week of March 8 - 14, 2024

HOROSCOPE
 MARCH 7 - MARCH 13 2024

ARIES (Mar. 21- April 20)
 This week is anything but ordinary so tap into your raw talent for doing things differently and take that leap of faith. Dreams remain in the ethers unless you do everything you can to land them and the astrology is helping you align with your Aries super-powers of courage combined with the capacity to channel a force-field of can-do energy.

TAURUS (Apr. 21- May 21)
 The maverick planet Uranus in your own sign is upending your set-up and unplugging the old status quo. Really you have to treat your life like impro and pluck answers out of the air. Unsettling as this may seem, you will surprise yourself as you actually do know exactly what to do in the moment. Getting yourself out of a rut propels you into a new and exciting adventure.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)
 Things are moving rapidly which delights you as long as you're poised to handle the unexpected. Exploring tangents adds a creative edge to your thought process. What can you magic up at this time which takes you beyond the norm? In the run-up to Sunday's New Moon on your midheaven let your imagination run wild but go with the obviously workable option.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)
 Being true to yourself becomes easier when you mind less about what other people think and pay more attention to your inner knowing about what's right for you. You are being pulsed to shake things up a bit - you feel change is long overdue. Freeing yourself from old expectations is entirely liberating and delivers the plus point of a new lease of life.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22)
 As Uranus cuts you loose you're beginning to enjoy the electric energy sizzling around you. Part of the joy is actually not knowing what's going to happen next and there's a certain freedom in being able to live more spontaneously and make things up as you go along. Even if the externals in your life still stand, underneath you're buzzing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 -Sept. 23)
 Making snap decisions requires you to think on your feet rather than from a place of a long analytic process. Uranus is putting you on the spot and asking you to go with your gut instincts. Nevertheless you may have to talk others down from a dream-state. You still have your feet on the ground not down the rabbit hole!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 -Oct. 23)
 Taken as a whole, March leaves you in a different place from when it started. The process begins this week with Uranus removing old strands of your existence which you've outgrown. This planetary energy can feel jolting and unexpected but it allows things to move forward unencumbered by an old mindset or situation. What's to come this Spring will be free-ing and enlightening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
 Throwing off the way things used to be can be a shock to the system. However, you're in a period of rapid growth and change even if things feel destabilised. Stay calm and prepare for lift-off..... you're entering a new chapter over the next couple of months. Meanwhile remain in touch with the magic of the creative process.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 -Dec. 21)
 Ground-breaking aspects are everywhere during March and April so the new normal is forming whilst the old one is rendered obsolete. In the meantime there's a period of change that needs to be navigated with your customary faith and optimism - yet mindful of the importance of keeping things real. Explore everything but buy time, not instant answers.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22.- Jan. 20)
 What's going on is certainly not what you expected - as the planet Uranus always adds something out of left field. However, embracing change allows you to think and live in new and stimulating ways which release you from the old routine. This is not only life-enhancing, it enables you to contact a part inside of yourself which is a free spirit. Who knew!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 -Feb. 19)
 As both Venus and Mars in your own sign are at odds with the change-maker planet Uranus, unexpected events or plot twists are adding an air of intrigue to this week. You do like to be kept on your toes and enjoy the thrill of being or receiving a wild card. Even so, what's unfolding is likely to either light up your world or cause a sudden flash of disruptive energy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)
 In the run-up to Sunday's New Moon in Pisces you're receiving a stream of cosmic energy which takes you out of the ordinary. Perhaps into the bliss-state or an unknown territory, perhaps something unexpected that dips you into an out of body experience. One thing's for sure you need to gather yourself for the re-set at New Moon so start making a list of intentions.

NATIONAL FLAPJACK DAY
 March 7th delivers National Flapjack Day with piping hot flavor and goodness. The day honors the sturdy, wholesome cakes we've been cooking up for generations! Stacked high, flapjacks remind us of mornings in grandma's kitchen when the coffee was fresh. We topped them with fresh blueberries and real maple syrup. Maybe today you add pecans or walnuts, thick-sliced bananas, and your favorite nut butter. Fresh whipped cream always makes flapjacks seem extra special, too.

WINDSHIELD TECH GETS AN UPGRADE

Windshields have seriously leveled up thanks to tech. Gone are the days when they were just big pieces of glass for keeping bugs out.

Now, they're safety devices. They're made with layers--think of it as a sandwich where glass is the bread and there's vinyl in the middle. This means they don't shatter as easily during accidents. Some windshields even display your speed and navigation right on the glass, so you never have to take your eyes off the road.

Driving Safer with Smarter Glass

The real winner with all these windshield upgrades?

Your safety. Modern windshields help keep the car's cabin from crashing in during a rollover and play a huge role in how well airbags do their job.

Not to mention, they can block harmful UV rays and cut down on glare from the sun or headlights at night. So, it's not just about keeping wind and debris out anymore; it's about making every drive safer.

Why You Need a Pro for Windshield Replacement

When your windshield needs a swap, handing it over to the pros is your best move. It might seem like a straightforward task, but there's a lot riding on it—like your car's structure and safety features working right.

Professionals know exactly what type of glass and glue your car needs, and they've got the skills to set everything perfectly in place.

Talk to the Experts Beforehand

Swapping out your windshield? It's a big deal and worth a chat with a windshield replacement company before diving in.

The reason behind it is simple: cars these days are pretty unique, and some need that extra special touch, especially with all the cool gadgets they come with like rain sensors or those awesome heads-up displays that project info right on the glass.

Catching up with experts can really help you navigate through what's out there. They'll break down your choices in plain language, making sure you land on something that suits what you need and how much you want to spend.

Plus, they'll give you the lowdown on which type of windshield glass will sync up best with your car's tech features, ensuring everything works seamlessly together. This way, you're not just picking a windshield; you're choosing the best safety and tech compatibility for your ride without busting your budget.

ITCHY DOGS AND DUST MITES

Submitted By Patsy Nelson
from The Wagging Tail

This week I decided to really attack the possibility of dust mites, especially in my bedroom where I have carpet, and where my pets spend most of their sleeping time. I use a larger top sheet to cover my blanket, so I don't have to wash the blanket as often, just the cover-sheet. Then I went to The Wagging Tail and as I was getting Zoey out of her car seat, one of my customers walked by with her just-groomed Shih Tzu. We chatted and she remarked about the very large hot spot on her dog's back. She said she thought it was from dust mites. I thought that was one of those unexplained coincidences, this one relating to dust mites. Humans can have the following symptoms related to dust mite allergies: sneezing, runny nose, itchy, red, or watery eyes, nasal congestion, postnasal drip, cough, facial pressure and pain, swollen, and/or blue-colored skin under your eyes. (In a child, frequent upward rubbing of the nose.) In severe cases, asthma could result. I have suffered from the first six symptoms. I have not been tested, but I do take medication.

After meeting up with my customer's Shih Tzu, I decided to research how dust mites affect our pets. Dust mites are microscopic and resemble, to me, a cross between a tick and a beetle. According to an article called HEALTHY PETS, they are most commonly attracted to carpeting, bedding, mattresses, upholstery, and darkness. They are also fond of the moist, warm air we exhale during sleep. It sounds a bit disgusting, but it is a protein in their feces that causes our allergic reactions. Dust mites are a year-round problem, being more severe in the spring and fall.

This may be an aha moment, but one of the symptoms in pets is recurring ear infections!! How many of our pets are plagued with that?! Also, pets may be itchy, especially around the face and feet, or have skin issues including inflammation and seborrhea. Animals can be tested via skin or serum. Felines with dust mite allergies, may develop eosinophilic granuloma complex that results in skin lesions: itching; acne on the chin (which we see in some of the cats at our store even though we do not use any plastic dishes); recurrent ear inflammation or infections; and a disease of the foot pads called plasma cell pododermatitis, or "pillow foot."

Treatment will take some effort on your part, as in keeping bedding, furniture, and floors as dust free as possible. Just like with bed bugs, heat is your friend, so wash everything in hot water, or dry on a hot temperature setting. Or you can use cold water with tea tree oil added to it. The article suggests airing out bedding on a very cold or very hot day for at least twelve hours. And regularly thorough vacuuming. It is best to have a vacuum with a HEPA filter. Steam cleaning carpets and upholstery. Using mattress covers that are micro-porous anti dust mite. Something I have recommended to customers is covering your pet's bed with a pillowcase or sheet so that you only need to wash the cover, which will prolong the life of the bedding. This article suggests that as well, to assist on removal of dust mites. Other recommendations, according to the article include regular foot soaks and baths, (see my article on yeast infections for homemade foot soak) proper diet and supporting the immune system. We have a hemp based immune-strengthening supplement. Always provide fresh, good-quality drinking water, and avoid over-vaccinating/over-medicating to keep your pet's immune system healthy. (I am strongly of the opinion that usually rabies shots and heart-worm preventative, are sufficient for our house pets.) Getting an air purifier and switching to non-toxic cleaning products will help. Milk Thistle drops (see my article on Milk Thistle) to clean toxins out of the pet's system. "Keep in mind it only takes a miniscule amount of dust mite allergen to create an allergic response in your dog or cat. Thus, the more effective your mite eradication efforts, the more comfortable your allergic pet will be."

Thanks for helping to keep a small business in business and to all who picked us as the best pet store 2022/2023! (We will soon have more adorable kittens up for adoption or just petting in our shelter.)
